Valley League Debate

Last Saturday evening the San Jose High School and the Campbell Union High School met in debate under the auspices of the Santa Clara Valley Debating League. As is the custom, debates on the same question were held simultaneously at both schools; the affirmative team of Campbell, consisting of Howard Bean, Mildred Beaver and John Wood (alternate) met San Jose's negative team here and Campbell's negative team, comprising Lois Pendleton, Wm. O'Neil and Lawrence Hawkinson (alternate) debated with San Jose affirmative team there. The question for debate was: "Resolved, that the United States should take the initiative in the process of disarmament."

In both places the debate proved to be a very close contest, the judges markings giving San Jose the victory, at Campbell by 7-30 of one per cent and at San Jose by 5-30 of one per cent (the markings being on the basis of 100 per cent). The actual judge's markings gave San Jose 88 1-30 at Campbell and 93 8-30 at San Jose; Campbell 87 26-30 at Campbell and 93 1-30 at San Jose. To this judge's score, according to the rules of the Debating League, is added 10 points to the score of the winning team at each place, thus giving San Jose her reported gain of 10 points and a fraction at each place.

The students and friends of the Campbell High School may take pardonable pride in the good record of the school, in view of the fact that San Jose has one teacher whose time is largely taken up in training students in debating, while Campbell has no definite work along that line, except as it may come in incidentally in the class work. It is also worth noting that two of Campbell's debaters won the two highest individual scores secured in the debate.

It was a matter of remark by the judges of the debate at Campbell that in argument neither team had any decided advantage of the other, but in ease and readiness in speaking before the public (qualities that should appear as a result of such training as San Jose gives) Campbell was at a disadvantage.

CONGREGATIONAL ASSOCIATION

The forty-fourth annual meeting of the Santa Clara District Association of Congregational Churches will be held in Campbell Tuesday and Wednesday April 30th and May 1st. A number of interesting papers will be read and discussed. A large attendance of Congregationalists from all over the district is expected.

Bump Badly Bumped by Box

Mr. Lincoln Bump met with quite a serious accident last Saturday morning. While helping to unload some dried cots in front of the Farmers Union Packing House, one tier of the boxes slid off the wagon, several falling upon Mr. Bump, cutting him about the face and back of the head quite seriously. Dr. Merrill was called and sewed up the wounds. Mr. Bump was laid up for several days, but is again able to be at work.

Street Improvement Work Begun

Under the direction of Supervisor John Roll, work at the east end of Campbell Avenue was begun Wednesday afternoon. The roadbed is being broken up by a plowing rig and a crushed rock bed will be rolled and packed into the soft earth with a 14-ton roller.

Mr. Roll has purchased for the county of Messrs. Merrill, Duncan and others a five acre tract lying in the creek bed, from which an unlimited supply of gravel may be taken. A right of way to the creek bed has been purchased of Mr. Merrill. A large rock crusher will be placed in the gravel pit and all stones will be broken and screened to a uniform size before putting on the road. After the road is properly rolled a coating of crude oil will be spread on, which will make a firmer surface.

All of Campbell Avenue and probably Central Avenue from the drier north will be treated in this manner and the good roads movement will be well under way in this valley.

The residents of Campbell and vicinity are much indebted to Mr. R. K. Thomas for his earnest and untiring efforts in boosting for this much needed improvement and the Press takes this means of thanking both Mr. Thomas and Mr. Roll for the interest they have shown in our village and surrounding territory.

Congregational Church

The pastor spoke to the boys and girls last Sunday morning on "Money," having coins ancient and modern and from various lands. Next Sunday morning he will speak on "Counterfeits," having some counterfeit coins as a text. The theme for the morning church service is "Letters of Credit" with illustrated text, and for the evening service 7:30 "Life's Divine Potter." Junior C. E. at 3 p. m. Topic "Our Enemies," Winona Sawyer leader; Senior C. E. at 6:30. Topic "Perseverance," the fourth in a series leading throughout the year, Ada B. Collins, leader. You are invited to worship with us. If you have no church home come with us and the help will be mutual. You will find our meetings bright, brief and brotherly.

GEO. E. ATKINSON, Pastor.

Los Gatos Won

The local ball team went down to defeat at the hands of the Los Gatos hitters Saturday to the tune of 10 to 2. The locals started out with the pep but let up before the game was finished and the "Gem City" boys renewed their efforts to good effect. The Campbell team needs a course of rigorous coaching which, with the material at hand, would produce a very fast high school team.

Halla's coffee, the good kind, Putnams.

ENTERTAINED FRIENDS

Mrs. J. F. Wilson entertained a few friends last Saturday afternoon at her home on First street, in honor of the Misses Schuman of Berkeley. Conversation and fancy work were the diversions of the afternoon.

Dainty refreshments were served of chicken salad, hot biscuit, olives, salted almonds, ice cream, cake and black coffee.

Those present were: Mrs. S. L. Hayes, Mrs. J. F. Wilson, Mrs. Ralston Allison, Mrs. R. Kennedy and Misses Nena and Lena Schuman, Matilda Hayes, Lewis Gertrude Cook, Ernestine Kennedy, Phebe Farley, Beth Kennedy, May Farley, Muriel Palmer and Esther Hussey.

Have Gone East on Visit

Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Wilson left this evening on the Sunset Limited on their vacation trip. At New Orleans they will take a boat trip of five days to New York and visit at Boston and Portland, Me., and Mr. Wilson's parents at Cambridge, Mass. They will go from there to Minneapolis, where the General Conference will be in session May 1st to May 30th. Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Hansen will occupy the parsonage and supply at the church. Rev. Wilson bespeaks a hearty welcome and support for Mr. and Mrs. Hansen.

J. W. Chenoweth arrived from McCracken, Kan., Sunday, for a visit with his sister, Mrs. John Spencer. Mr. Chenoweth is much pleased with the valley.

How to Get a Change.

When it is impossible to move a convalescent into different surroundings for the sake of a change, move the furniture and pictures of the room into different places. An invalid often tires of seeing the same pictures and ornaments in the same places week after week. Change the position of the furnishings, and it will seem almost like moving into another room.

Even in Those Days.

The children stood in awe before one of the museum mummies. At last the elder whispered to her father, "Why is the old woman wrapped up in bandages? Did she die of an accident?" Before he could reply the younger girl said, "Oh, yes! She must have been run over by a motor car. There's the number—'B. C. 1461.'"

Professional Bomb Throwers.

The Chinese corps of trained bomb throwers reminds us that our own regiment of Grenadier guards takes its name from the grenades or small bombs which in early days they hurled at the enemy in an assault. And this primitive duty is also commemorated in a flaming grenade embroidered on the collars of their tunics.—London Chronicle.

Not Exciting.

Mrs. Stirling used to tell how, during a brief holiday to somewhere on the Clyde, being kept indoors by three wet days, Stirling read the Greek Testament continuously aloud to her, first in Greek and then in English. She was a truly religious woman, but she owned to being glad when the rain ceased.—Life of James H. Stirling.

Doubly Blessed.

The mother of little Helen was one of twins. As the twin sisters lived quite a way apart, Helen did not see her aunt until she was about two years old. On first seeing her she was greatly puzzled over the resemblance of her mother and aunt, and after looking bewilderedly from one to the other finally exclaimed, "More mamma."

Newspaper Comes First.

Men may read the newspaper hurriedly, but they are never too hurried to read it. The newspaper covers interests that they cannot neglect. A magazine will safely bear neglect for a month or two. But nobody wants to overlook today's newspaper.—Printers' Ink.

Newspaper and Magazine.

The daily newspaper is the quick-firing gun; but besides its advantages in timeliness and local and personal interest, it has crystalized into a necessity, while the magazine still remains in the luxury column.—Frank A. Munsey.

His Real Friends.

'The people are trying to obtain a pardon for that man who was sent up for stealing a phonograph." "I suppose all his neighbors are signing his petition?" "Not at all. It is being signed by the neighbors of the people from whom he stole the phonograph."

Generous Offer.

The money in circulation in this country amounts to $34.61 per capita. If the parties holding back our share will turn over the $34, they may keep the 61 cents and no questions asked.—Newark News.

One Lasting Creed.

Call your opinions your creed, and you will change in every week. Make your creed simple and broadly out of the revelation of God, and you may keep it to the end.—Phillips Brooks.

Apparently So.

Some genius has invented a guard to be affixed to automobile wheels to prevent the splashing of pedestrians. Would he rob the sport of one of its chief pleasures?—Washington Post.

To Lay Linoleum.

When laying linoleum first lay papers rather thick in the part to be covered with the linoleum. You will find that it is much warmer and at the same time saves your linoleum.

Good for Evil.

A more glorious victory cannot be gained over another man than this, that when the injury began on his part the kindness should begin on ours.—Tillotson.

A Sign.

Whenever two pretty girls kiss each other it is a sign that there is something wrong with the system of conserving our natural resources.

Women That Need Rest.

It is not the women who work who need rest cures, but those who are worn out doing nothing, and doing it badly.

Followed Each Other Closely.

Knicker—"Do you have a new cook often?" Subbubs—"We have them close enough together to be twins."—Puck.

IN TOUCH WITH FASHION

What 'Young Persons' Are Wearing—French Girls Are Trained to Choose Such Clothes as Become Their Years

NEW YORK.—In France la Jeune Fille finds herself a person of vast importance when she reaches the age of her debut. Until then her maman has selected all her gowns with artful skill and good taste, and the tutelage has blazed the trail well for the fillette. Thenceforth she is fully capable of taking care of her own clothes. With a groundwork of ceaseless schooling in modes and colors, she looks upon the choosing of her dresses each season as the foremost of her life's duties.

She does not fly off at tangents in the matter of styles. Oh, no! That she leaves to her American sister, who has less training and a greater fickleness in clothing, having never learned thoroughly the lesson that simplicity is the keynote of correct taste. The American mother has much to learn from the French maman, who, with fewer dollars perhaps, has the fundamental principles of dressing as a fine art at her fingers' ends. In the wardrobs of the young Parisian of good breeding, in short, showiness and display have no part. There is for her no jangling of tones or incongruity of lines. Her tutor since childhood has made a study of the lights in her hair and her eyes, and the rose of her complexion, and every color chosen for her gown is selected to harmonize with and bring out the best features with which nature has endowed her.

Parisian Harmonies.

The main lesson she has learned, to be sure, is that individuality should stamp every garment. Style is arbitrary in general, but flexible in details, and the French girl knows enough not to follow the transitory fashion that tends toward the grotesque. In Paris one would stare at a gown of long, unbroken lines, with large stripes running perpendicularly, on a young woman of noticeable tallness and attenuated frame. Astonished glares would be the reward of the spectacle, so often seen in this country, of the woman who has long since passed the "plump" stage, but is still rejoicing in frills and furbelows that make a veritable Mother Bunch out of her.

Consider the craze that young women have developed for wearing black hereabouts. What possesses them? Do they imagine it is becoming? Will nobody convince them that girlhood is the time for bright, vivid colors—that color and brightness belong to youth? Why can't they realize that primal, brilliant hues have the chief charm in the years before gray hairs show themselves? They should leave black to their grandmothers and dear old aunties, for whom it is appropriate—howbeit some of those grand-dames and aunts, wanting to look younger than they really are, seek the very radiance which would be fitting for their somberly clad young relatives.

But some day we may learn from the French in all matters of taste just as we have learned from them piecemeal. In their footsteps, we have forgotten, most of us, the old-fashioned breakfast whereat was gathered the entire family, no member of which thought of eating until after the saying of the blessing. The new generation takes its dejeuner in bed, if it can. The dainty boudoir cap, with the matinee to match, has come into its own. Beneath it refractory locks can be put out of sight, and unsightly crimps and curlers be securely hidden away. Among the most popular materials for these caps is organdie. Others are French dimity, and lovely ones come in real lace, over silk. A "boudoir outfit" on view in one of the shops shows the cap made of sheer barred dimity, with a hand-embroidered wreath of pink roses and forget-me-nots around the crown, which is gathered into a band of Swiss embroidery beading and finished with a frill of cream lace. Over each eye are two adorable bunches of satin hand-made pink roses and forget-me-nots. The matinee, with a skirt matching it—many of them are being shown with skirts—has pink crepe de chine for a foundation, and bands of tiny thread lace, put in by hand, unite with a bunch of flowers caught in the throat-ribbon to create a wonderfully attractive effect.

New Trotteurs for Girls.

After breakfast, we have our morning walk, if we are the young woman, who, as aforesaid, would do well to take their lesson in clothing art from the French. And apropos of the walk, one thinks of the trotteur, or coat suit, for street wear. Dark blue rep serge is the favorite material this spring for trotteurs. Some of them have black braid trimmings and ball buttons made of the same goods.

DAINTY SMOCKED FROCK FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

Soft Material Lends Itself Well to This Treatment.

There is always, or should be, a touch of vivid color to lighten up the otherwise sober costume. Turkey red, Aztec green, and orange yellow are used for this purpose, and a suggestion of the same enlivening color used on the skirt is given to the hat selected to accompany the suit. The new trotteurs exhibited for spring wear are adorned with a plastron girdle which is a triumph of genius on the part of the French modiste, and makes a strong appeal because of the slender, girlish lines it gives to the figure.

It may be remarked, incidentally, that what appeals only to the youngish woman reared in the world of French fashion is likely to have a broader field of popularity here for reasons already indicated; the New York woman advanced in years is forever hunting for something too young for her, and the French exporter, being a clever tradesman, is none too slow about letting her have what she wants. Often one hears the wise student of things sartorial remarks upon the facility with which the Paris fashion-former markets in America the styles for which he cannot find ready sale at home. Undoubtedly this state of affairs in his business is due to the American lack of that discrimination which distinguishes the women of his own city and country.

Smocked Frocks Popular.

But to return to the dainty clothing needs of that young woman who took her forenoon walk in a trotteur: For afternoon wear the smocked frock is decidedly popular nowadays. It is also "the thing" for an informal dance. Made of satin voile, or soft pliable taffeta, its expensiveness will prevent it from becoming over-popularized, and hence it will remain fashionable among the spenders. It is made, of course, in one piece, with the round skirt coming just to the ankles. The smock forms a yoke effect on the skirt—this effect, by the way, is one of the few really novel additions to the style for the spring of 1912. Also the smocking defines the waist line and runs up to a high-pointed girdle. The yoke is either round or square, and is formed of the smocking, as is the cuff at the elbow.

Makers of Our Destiny.

Every man is hour by hour fashioning his own character, in every unsuspected moment he is constructing his final destiny. Life is built up and fashioned from within, every single movement of mind and heart and spirit aids the great consummation. And what life shall be, either in splendor or shame, lies in the tireless hands of the uncompromising fashioners of destiny—Thought, Love, and Choice.—Rev. G. B. Austin.

CALVES' BRAINS WITH JELLY

This Is a Dish, When Properly Cooked and Served, That All Will Appreciate.

Blanch the brains by letting them soak in cold water and salt for two hours; take them out, skin, dry thoroughly, and drop them in salted boiling water; let cook for ten minutes; chill and put them in the ice box. When serving, cut the brains in slices or dice, and heap them on a lettuce bed after they have been tossed in a French dressing. Heap the top of the dish with blobs of tomato jelly.

Make the jelly in this manner: Soak a box and a half of gelatin in enough water to cover it. Then put one quart of tomatoes on to stew with a head of celery chopped fine, a little parsley, salt and cayenne. Let this boil for twenty minutes, then pour boiling hot over the gelatin; strain at once in a mold, putting it in the ice box to congeal thoroughly when cool enough. The tomato jelly may also be cut up in squares and served as a separate salad with plain lettuce and mayonnaise. But of course it needs to come into the room in a very cold condition, or it would soon melt.

BEST OF ALL SHORTCAKES

How Luscious Dessert Should Be Prepared for the Table to Be at Its Best.

Best served warm and do not fill until ready to serve. Split cake, lay top inverted on a plate, fill with fresh or canned sliced peaches, well seasoned apple sauce, or best of all, with crushed or sliced strawberries. Fruit should be liberally sugared.

When center is well filled place the top layer on, cover with fruit and serve with cream.

Ingredients: Two cupfuls of sifted pastry flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, three tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one egg and three-quarters cupful of milk.

Method: Sift salt and baking powder into flour after it has been sifted once and measured. Cream, butter, sugar and egg until light. Into this gently stir the milk and flour, alternating (do not beat, just stir lightly), then pour into greased layer cake tin. Bake in brisk oven, then split and prepare with the fruit as directed in foregoing recipe.

Mixed Vegetable Salad.

This may be made of any green vegetables, but in the smart restaurants the chefs put the following things together: French lettuce, endive, cucumbers, celery hearts, green pepper, asparagus tips, pimentos and sometimes string beans. A nest is made of the plain lettuce, the endive is cut in fine strips, and if the asparagus or string beans are of the canned sort they are first washed off with fresh water and then thoroughly drained. The cucumber is cut in paper fine slices. All of the ingredients are put together in a mixing bowl and tossed lightly in a French dressing—olive oil, vinegar or lemon, salt and cayenne. Unless requested not to do so, the French chef also adds a taste of garlic or onion. When served this salad lies in the nest of lettuce leaves with a border of sliced cucumber or radishes cut to look like fuchsias.

To Remove Tea Stains From Linen

To remove the obstinate tea stain from your fine linen tablecloth, spread the stained part over a basin, and pour (from a height) clean soft boiling water through it. If the stain has been allowed to dry it will be the harder to remove, but where this method is applied at once while the stain is fresh and moist, the marks will disappear like magic. Where the stains are long set, rub in a little powdered borax and pour on more boiling water; then place the articles to soak in a basin, later washing it in the ordinary way and the stains will be effectually removed. When any article has had either coffee or tea spilled on it, be careful not to allow any soap to touch it, as the alkali of the soap will make the coloring matter into a fast dye, which can hardly be bleached out.

Kitchen Wisdom.

A cheerful cook makes a fine dessert.

Stir a smile into the pudding.

"I forgot"—spoiled the broth.

Flavor the salad with the oil of loving kindness.

Plain cooking—handsome children.

Good service is half the dinner.

Guess—and ruin the cake.

Cleanliness is godliness. Nature is clean.

A merry heart makes light pastry.

Clean hands and light bread.

Order, cleanliness and know-how—these three; and the greatest of these is know-how.

The hand that stirs the batter rules the world.

To Remove a Paint Stain.

To remove the paint stain from the new felt hat, touch the stain lightly with spirits of turpentine, or benzine Keep the spot moist by repeated applications and after a time the paint will be found quite soft, so that it may easily be lifted with a knife. Take off the surface part thus and apply more of the cleanser to a soft cloth dipped in the cleanser. If any trace of the injury still remains treat with alcohol giving the whole hat a rub with a cloth moistened in it, as this treatment will freshen the appearance.

STRAWBERRY PROBABLY MOST WIDELY GROWN OF ALL FRUITS

There Are Varieties Adapted to Almost Every Climate and Condition From Florida to Alaska—Well-Drained, Friable Clay Is Considered Best Soil—Northern Slope Preferred.

(By LE ROY CADY, Minnesota.)

The strawberry is probably the most widely-grown fruit in the world. There are varieties adapted to almost every climate and condition, from Alaska to Florida. Our cultivated kinds have been developed from the Chilian strawberry and the common wild strawberry. The alpine strawberry of Europe is the parent of the ever-bearing varieties which are now coming into prominence in some places. They, however, are not as yet of sufficient value to deserve much attention. The strawberry is one of the first fruits on the market in the spring, and hence is always welcome.

The best time to set a strawberry-bed is the early spring, as soon as the land is in good condition and the plants can be obtained. There is more moisture as a rule at that time; and this, combined with the cool weather of spring, gives better growing conditions than August planting. Plants may also be set in the fall, if extra attention and care are given them. It does not pay to set the plants in dry soil or in a dry season, unless plenty of water for irrigation purposes is available.

Any land that will grow a good crop of corn will grow strawberries. Sod land should never be used if it can be prevented, as it is likely to contain grubs and cut-worms, which will eat off the roots of newly-set plants. A well-drained, friable clay loam is probably best for strawberries—a soil that warms up easily and yet will hold sufficient moisture for the crop.

Strawberries require a rich soil, hence it is well to thoroughly manure the land that is to be used for the crop in the fall, and plow under from four to six inches deep. In the spring disk, drag and smooth thoroughly. This gives a loose soil in which to set the plants, and a firm sub-soil to hold the moisture, and yet open enough to let the roots through.

A northern slope is to be preferred, as the plants do not start so early in the spring. They thus escape the early frosts and they are not so likely to be dried out by the hot winds at fruiting time. Many growers, however, obtain good results on a southern slope, in spite of the disadvantages.

Some growers prefer to fruit the bed only one season; in this case, as soon as it is through fruiting, the bed is plowed up and some late crop, such as turnips or fodder corn, planted on the land. If it is desired to keep the bed fruiting more than one year, a plan like the following is often used: As soon as the bed is through fruiting, the plants are mowed with a horse mower or by hand, close to the ground, and then the bed is raked clean and the trash burned; or else, if it is very dry, the bed may be burned over without raking. If this is attempted, however, the leaves and straw must be very dry, so they will burn like a flash; otherwise injury will be done the plants. When the trash is disposed of, plow a furrow on each side of the row, leaving about one foot of row standing. Fill this trench with well-rotted manure, and cultivate the soil back. Then with a sharp hoe cut out all the weak and diseased plants left, leaving the plants about six inches apart. These will soon send out runners and form a new bed by fall. In this way much diseased foliage and some insects are gotten rid of. A good horse cultivator can often be used instead of a plow. The use to which the fruit is to be put will influence the picking. If for home or local use the fruit may be picked somewhat riper than if it is shipped a long distance. No matter where it is marketed, care must be used in picking to keep the patch picked clean every day.

Do not pick when the fruit or vines are wet, as this will cause the fruit to be soft and to spoil in transit. Many growers find it to be an advantage to take the fruit from the field to a packing shed and there repack, using only ripe, uniform-sized fruit in the package. Neatness of package, as well as quality of fruit, is a great factor in marketing.

PROFIT MADE IN CULTURE OF FISH

Care Need Not Interfere With Other Work on Farm—Tanks Must Have Clean Gravel.

To make a success in fish culture the tanks must be provided with clean gravel and the bottoms raked once a week. If the tanks are disturbed by fish hawks, bull frogs, mink or other pests, place strips of board across the tank and cover with wire netting that can be removed when cleaning. The food will scatter through the wire.

When the tank is ready to receive the fry, order from a commercial fish hatchery 10,000 speckled, square-tailed, brook trout fry that will cost from $3 to $5 per thousand, according to age. For four weeks after hatching no feed will be necessary. Nature provides a sack for fry to first consume. For the next six weeks skimmed milk curd may be fed three times a day; after that sheep and pigs' liver, poultry waste cut fine, or a commercial food made in the form of a meal containing fish and grain, at a low cost. This should be fed to the fish the same as poultry is fed.

Supposing the cost of tank and fry is $50 and cost of feeding $25, a total of $75, and 5,000 of the 10,000 fry grow to fingerlings the first season. By September the fingerlings are worth $25 per thousand, and will find ready sale if put on the market.

The producer has left the tank and $50 above the cost, with a chance to save many of the other 5,000 fry not reckoned. There are no fertilizer bills to pay, no spraying of trees, no waiting a year for returns, no working in the hot sun killing weeds—just a lot of wholesome fun that need not interfere with other work on the farm.

SPRAYING CALENDAR FOR APPLES

The Trouble.	The Spray.	Time of Application. First Spraying.	Second Spraying.	Third Spraying	Subsequent Treatment	Remarks.
Bud moths, canker worms, case bearers, leaf rollers, crumplers, curculios, codling moths, scab, canker, leaf spot and orange rust.	XI	Just before the blossoms open.	Just after petals fall.	10-15 days later.		These applications are absolutely necessary for the production of clean fruit. A fourth spraying is often necessary later. In the case of orange rust, destroy cedar trees adjacent to orchard.
Apple Aphids.	I or II	When insects appear.
Woolly Aphis.	II	When observed.				Expose roots and spray with solution 1-100 or tobacco stems may be used.
Borers, flat headed.	IV	In early March	Renew if needed.		Cut out borers where once attacked.	Let spray well up main limbs. Head the tree low, keep in healthy, growing condition with cultivation.
Borers, round headed.	XIV or IV	In early March	Renew if needed.		Ditto above.	If IV is used, add 1 pint of crude carbolic acid to 10 gallons of mixture.
Borer, Twig.						Cut out infested twigs.
Fruit Bark Beetle.
San Jose scale.	VIII	In fall after tree is dormant.	In spring before buds open.		Prune back severely.	To be sprayed for only when known to be present.
Scurfy scale, oyster shell bark louse, Forbes' scale.	I or IV	Late May.				Ditto above.
Fall webworm.	V or VI	Second week in July.
Apple blight.						Cut out and burn diseased portions.

In response to frequent requests for information concerning spray mixtures and their application on apple trees, the above calendar is given. Spray Number XI. indicates either Bordeaux mixture 50 gallons and Paris green one-half pound, or lead arsenate two pounds.

Spray Number I.—Kerosene oil, two gallons. Soap one-half pound and water one gallon.

Number II.—Black leaf one gallon, water 70 gallons.

Number IV.—Whale oil soap a pound, water one gallon. Dilute for tender foliage.

Number XIV.—White lead and raw linseed oil.

Number VIII.—Sulphur 15 pounds, lime 15 pounds, water 50 gallons. This can be applied only when trees are dormant, as the caustic effects will burn foliage.

Number V.—Paris green one pound, lime—fresh stone lime—four pounds, water 100 gallons.

Number VI.—Lead arsenate four pounds, water 100 gallons.

Nicknames In History.

The history of nicknames would be an enormous compilation, for it would be the history of the human race. The most ancient chronicles contain notable examples, and, doubtless, prehistoric man, the lake dweller, the cave man, thus dubbed his neighbor. None have escaped, from the highest in the land to the lowest. Kings and statesmen, saints and sinners, poets, playwrights, wits—all have had these "eke-names."

Unvarying Temperature.

Scientists tell us that at a depth of 45 feet under the earth's surface the temperature does not vary perceptibly at any time of the year.

WOMEN FOLLOW THE HOUNDS

In No Country Is the Sport So Well Beloved by Women as It Is In Ireland.

Hunting absorbs keen sportswomen in Ireland, and it is seldom that a frost drives the Irish follower to hounds from the countryside. Irish women are renowned for their fearless prowess in the hunting field, where the terrible obstacles to be negotiated call for nerves of steel, and it is neck or nothing in the distressful country, says the London Daily Graphic.

The fearsome stone walls, sometimes overgrown with turf and masking a brook, appal all but the stoutest hearts, and even the most hardened sportswoman is known to quail at the commencement of the hunting season, experiencing the sensation of the heart in the mouth when called upon to face the stiff going. She finds her nerve returning, however, after a day or so in the saddle.

The late empress of Austria used to hunt regularly in Ireland, where her reckless and brilliant horsemanship is still spoken of. With the late Bay Middleton to give her a lead, she was always in the first fight and stuck at nothing. The famous happy-go-lucky hospitality that marks the Irish temperament is exemplified in matters sporting, and open house is kept by those having accommodation in a good hunting district.

The Irish colleen will dance all night at a hunt ball and turn up at a distant meet as fresh as paint without going to bed at all, full of life and spirit, with wit and repartee bubbling like a font. The Irish country brings out all the dare devil Irish nature, and there is little searching for gaps or gates when the blood of Irish horse and rider is up.

Ireland is not overrepresented in the matter of hunting, and Irish packs are not by any means numerous, and may be reckoned to number a couple of dozen. Some only possess quite a restricted number of couples, and but few hunt four or five days a week, though an occasional by-day may bring the total up. The Meath hunts five days a week and is one of the famous hunts of the United Kingdom, and the County Galway, the Blazers, has four days a week.

Dickens' Care for His Guests.

If Dickens was particular regarding the equipment of his own bedroom he was equally careful for the comfort of his guests. Charles Dolby, in "Charles Dickens as I Knew Him," says of the bedrooms at Gad's Hill: "Each of these rooms contained the most comfortable of beds, a sofa, an easy chair, cane-bottomed chairs—in which Mr. Dickens himself had a great belief, always preferring to use one himself—a large-sized writing table, profusely supplied with paper and envelopes of every conceivable size and description, and an almost daily change of new quill pens. There was a miniature library of books in each room, a comfortable fire in winter, with a shining copper kettle in each fireplace; and, on a side table, cups, saucers, tea caddy, teapot, sugar and milk."

A peculiarity of the household, adds Mr. Dolby, was the fact that, except at table, no servant was ever seen about.

His Dreams Come True.

A number of interesting stories are told of F. F. Nicola, Pittsburg's most dazzling operator, by Isaac F. Marcosson in his article, "The Millionaire Yield of Pittsburg," in Munsey. One of them deals with the erection of his famous hostelry, says the writer.

"About 12 years ago Nicola built a million-dollar hotel in an out-of-the-way corn-field. People thought he was insane. Now he has reared about it a whole civic center, which includes a memorial hall, an armory, and fine clubs, and will in time embrace the new University of Pittsburg. It was Mr. Nicola who vivified a string of decrepit railroad properties, and sold them to George J. Gould as the nucleus of the Pittsburg division of the Wabash system. He is a dreamer of indomitable will, and he has seen some of his big dreams come true."

YOUNG WIFE SAVED FROM HOSPITAL

Tells How Sick She Was And What Saved Her From An Operation.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was married and went to housekeeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back ached, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice, and have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief."—Mrs. BENJ. H. STANSBERY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

If you have mysterious pains, irregularity, backache, extreme nervousness, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait too long, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound now.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy and should give every one confidence.

HOW TO TREAT THE ORCHARD

Helpful Suggestions for Proper Maintenance of Trees—Trim, Spray and Cultivate.

The old, neglected orchard with its dead trees and wormy apples is a blot on the face of the earth. Trim, spray, cultivate and get big returns.

Keep the orchard land in good tilth. The trees can be set as soon as the leaves fall.

Plant a cover crop in the orchard. Rye, barley, wheat and oats are good non-leguminous plants, but the legumes are better.

Prune off all dead or weak branches. Thin out the tops to let the sun in.

Burn the diseased branches so that the other trees will not be contaminated. It will also be advisable to open the heads of peach trees, remove surplus branches and take off water sprouts.

The soil for orchard purposes must be well prepared and better results may be expected if this is done some time before the trees are to be transplanted. Break the land deep, harrow it well and plant a cover crop of rye, crimson clover, vetch, oats, wheat or barley. The trees may be set as soon as the foliage drops.

Gather up dead branches and burn them, as they are apt to harbor bark beetles, one of the worst orchard pests.

HIRED MAN PROBLEM AGAIN

Solution Is Selection of Head of Family, Who Is Content to Work Little Plot of Ground.

I am coming to believe that the hired men of the future will be married men who will live with their families on their own little plot of ground or on land given them for their own use by the farm owner.

One reason why farmers have so much trouble getting help is because most farm workmen are single men and are constantly drifting around, having no ties to hold them in one place. The man with a family seldom has the desire to change his location, and if he is the right kind of a man cannot go away even if he wanted to.

The big farmers of the west and particularly those who make a specialty of raising grain do not keep men the year around as a rule, but simply hire such help as is needed during harvest. They want single men or men who will work for day's wages to come on at a moment's notice and leave as soon as the work is finished. This has greatly demoralized farm labor and has tended to prevent those farmers who want men all the year around from getting reliable help.

Use of Legumes.

I believe the use of cowpeas, vetches soy beans, crimson clover and most of the legumes is on the increase. I have used all of them quite largely and have found them very helpful. I have used them to some extent, particularly the cowpeas and crimson clover for hay, but mostly for land improvement, says a writer in an exchange. I sow them with the grain drill usually, but sometimes broadcast, and I find them to be very beneficial. Crimson clover unquestionably is the leader, but unfortunately it does not grow well everywhere. It has always succeeded with me in this locality. But I have found the black cowpea and the hairy vetch to grow fairly well everywhere in Pennsylvania.

Corn-Growing Clubs.

Five thousand boys entered the corn growng contest of Virginia last year. Corn growing clubs are organized by the superintendents and school teachers in the various counties. Each boy was given a measured acre and received instructions from an agent of the agricultural department.

The Harness.

Oil is of great use in the preservation of very many things about the farm, not forgetting the harness, and it is a pity that very many use it so little. Now that there is a little rest as least just get at the harness. Give it a good cleaning, oiling and fixing up.

Another Big Egg.

A Virginia hen weighing four pounds laid an egg that measured nine inches in circumference one way and 7½ the other and weighed eight ounces. The outside shell contained another egg with a solid shell of average size.

Sells Wheat at $2 a Bushel.

Many farmers think it a sinful waste to feed good wheat to poultry, says a writer in an exchange. I don't; because I get at least $2 a bushel for every bushel I feed. The eggs and the poultry meat I sell or consume at home make that price for me.

Proper Handling of Manure.

There seems to be a discrepancy between the old idea that rotted manure is best and the present idea that the manure should be put on to the field as soon as it is drawn. In this case at least the modern theory is right.

Requirements of Dairy.

Some people have an idea that dairying is an easy job and can be done without much effort. Dairy work is just like any kind of work. If it is going to be done profitably it requires thought and care.

Fix Up the Stable.

A small investment will fix up almost any stable. With a few more windows and some ventilating flues, the result will be thoroughly valuable.

The Romany Parson.

In a little-known corner of the Lincolnshire (Eng.) Wolds lives "the romany rashai (parson)," as the gypsies designate the Rev. George Hall, rector of Ruckland, near Louth. Mr. Hall is a kind of apostle to the gypsies, for few men have so thoroughly won the confidence of these nomads. He is a past master of their manners and customs. He speaks the old Romany tongue with which George Borrow has familiarised the readers of "Lavengro." At times, when on his visits to fairs and encampments, Mr. Hall almost adopts the gypsy's attire, and on more than one occasion his unconventional appearance has caused him to be mistaken by Gorgios (non-gypsies) for the real thing, and treated accordingly. An enthusiastic member of the Gypsy Lore Society, he is sometimes to be seen squatting in a ring of swarthy Romany folk around their fire on Epsom Downs, or on the breezy fells of Yorkshire, sampling the mysterious contents of the black stockpot. This is done with a view to picking up crumbs of the fast-disappearing lore and traditional tales of the Romanies. He is able to recount a great many racy stories of gypsy life and adventure. A firm believer in the efficacy of the open-air life, Mr. Hall has himself slept in a gypsy tent of his own construction for seven months at a time. As a lecturer on his hobby, he is doing much to break down prejudice and to create sympathy for these strange survivors of an old-world race.

Deep Water Eyes.

Deep-sea fishes, as a rule, have either very large eyes or no eyes at all. The large eyes are fitted to make the most of the little light that is present at great depths and this is amplified by the phosphorescence of certain deep-water denizens themselves.

A bunch of polyps on a flexible stem was brought up from a depth of 2,175 fathoms, between Madeira and the Spanish coast. As it came to the surface it gave out a brilliant phosphorescence, as did many allied forms dredged in deep water.

No doubt these creatures, like their congeners in shallow waters, emit light in the deep sea; and the deep-sea animals with eyes probably congregate round them or grope their way in the gloom from one collection to another as they lie scattered over the bottom.

Poor Children Have Best Teeth?

A doctor in the British Medical Journal makes the statement that the most perfect teeth he has seen have been in the mouths of the children of the very poor—children who never possessed a tooth brush. This physician states that these youngsters eat more carbohydrates and less detergent material; also, they eat fewer sweets, and, possibly, which is more to the point, there is something in their organizations which resists both sweets and starch.

Beggars' Newspaper.

Among all newspapers certainly the most curious is that called "The Mendicants' Journal," which has begun a semi-annual publication in Paris. It is, presumably, intended for restricted circulation among the "elect," but copies of it have been seen, and the government may commence operations on its own account tending to suppression. The columns of this newspaper are full of advertisements, of which the following are samples: "Wanted—A blind man to play the flute." "At Once—A cripple to supplicate in wealthy districts. One preferred who has lost his right hand. Person applying must have references and give bond for good faith." The newspaper also offers to supply lists of centers where begging may be pursued most profitably, with names of persons who may be approached. Facilities for obtaining costumes suitable for cold weather beggary are hinted at. Also a beggar well recommended and able to pay may obtain at the bureau of information of the paper a list of important weddings, baptisms, burials, and givers of social functions, together with servants who may be "worked," arrivals of distinguished people, and so on.

Press $1.00 the Year

Campbell, Santa Clara County, California, is the most ideal city of homes in the entire west. With the modern city conveniences and appliances every dweller in this part of the valley enjoys city life, without the noisy, dirty streets and is as free and independent as a farmer. The entire valley is a veritable scattered city with all the vacant lots covered with orchards of prunes, apricots, peaches, pears, cherries, walnuts or vineyards which lots are being taken up very rapidly and beautiful bungalows, so popular throughout the state, are being built. Property values are on a steady rise owing to the scientific methods now being employed which practically insure against a crop failure. The roads of this community are unexcelled and are the delight of all pleasure seekers. The climate of this valley is its greatest asset and as a consequence everyone enjoys the best of health. Come to Campbell.

OBSERVANCES

There are now over 8000 postoffices in the United States designated as savings offices. More than $20,000,000 have been deposited by people who have been afraid, or for some other reason, unwilling to place their savings in a bank. In other words more than $20,000,000 heretofore hidden away in stockings, bed ticks, wood boxes, or some other supposedly safe place, have been put into circulation. Formerly an account could be opened only in the postoffice of which a person was a patron, but now you can open your account in any "savings office"—but in only one. In Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee there is no state supervision of banks and in these states postal deposits can be made only in national banks, but where state supervision exists all banks are privileged to receive postal savings deposits. The savings banks of the state of New York have 3,000,000 depositors with an average of $542 each. The savings banks of Boston contain $252,815,000. The gain in savings accounts in Cleveland during December, January and February amounted to $5,000,000, and during the year ending March 1, 1911, the gain in the savings banks of Chicago amounted to nearly $21,000,000. Savings accounts are mostly held by what may be called the middle classes, or laboring people.

Since sugar has been admitted from Porto Rico free of duty the amount of sugar from that island has increased about five times, and the value about six times. In 1909 Congress passed an act permitting 300,000 tons of sugar to be imported annually from the Philippines free of duty, and in the fiscal year 1911 the islands sent us over 200,000 tons and soon, according to present increase, the limit of free importations will be reached. The Philippines are probably the most fertile islands in the world. The mills are so crude that they cannot crush large cane, and only about one-half the juice is obtained from the small variety of cane. All this will soon be changed.

Things Had Happened

The following story is going the round: A young man concluded that the home merchant did not advertise a good line of clothing so he went to a mail order house to get something strictly up to date. When the suit arrived he found in the pants pocket a note reading this way: "Should this fall in the hands of a good looking young man who desires to correspond with a young lady of sweet disposition, kindly address, etc." The young man promptly sent a letter to the address and a few days later received a reply as follows: "Sir, my wife is in receipt of a letter from you in her name. She says that twenty years ago she wrote that note. She is now my lawful wife, the mother of eleven children. If you do not quit writing to her I will make a trip to your town and make, etc." Moral: Trade with your home merchants.

FRATERNAL AID MEETING

The regular meeting of the F. A. A. was held as usual at the I. O. O. F. Hall Saturday evening, April 13. At 9 o'clock the doors were thrown open and the children of all members trooped in for their annual festival of fun. Palm Leaf Council adopted the custom some years since of devoting the first meeting night after Easter to the special entertainment of the little ones.

Saturday evening's exercises consisted of instrumental pieces, duets, recitations, songs, egg races, sack races and games. The winners in the races were given prizes and the losers bags of candy, so all were pleased. The smallest tots present took an active part in all the sports and afterwards led in the march to the banquet hall where all were served, to their delight, with ice cream cornucopias, twice around, and more if they wanted them.

At the next meeting the lodge will give a box social to which the public is invited. The ladies are to prepare the boxes which are to be sold to the highest bidder.

A DEBT OF HONOR

In 1906 the Colorado river broke thru its banks and inundated thousands of acres of land in Southern California, threatened the expensive Laguna Dam of the Government and caused hundreds of families to become homeless. The rush of waters was so great that quick action was urgent and the president of the U. S., then Theodore Roosevelt, requested the Southern Pacific Company to aid both the government and the stricken people in that territory. This the Southern Pacific Company did.

The work was accomplished swiftly and capably. The S. P. expended $1,836,367 in stopping this rush of mad water. Ever since that time—six years ago—the claim of the railroad for reimbursement has been before the government. There is now before Congress a bill, introduced by Representative Smith of California, calling for such reimbursement, less the sum of $552,693.03, which the government engineer insists should be eliminated, that sum representing the difference between the commercial rate on the material hauled to the scene of the trouble and what is known as the rate charged for railroad material. No account is taken of the interest on this vast sum, which, up to and including February 29, 1912, was $400,560.

The Los Angeles Express, which is in no way at all partisan to the interests of the Southern Pacific, in fact, quite the contrary, in its editorial colums of March 28, 1912, terms this debt of the government as a "debt of honor," and says that it is disgraceful that the government has allowed the debt to go so long unpaid.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustichian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrah, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
